

Relax in a hot spring and experience
1,200 years of history
and the magnificence of nature.

Nikko is home to 103 ancient structures including the Toshogu Shrine (erected for Tokugawa Ieyasu, the founder of the Tokugawa Shogunate), Futarasan Shrine, and Rinnoji Temple. These historical structures and their surroundings are registered as a World Heritage site and still exude an aura of ancient times. The ever-changing panoramas of waterfalls, marshes, mountains and other scenery provide an excellent chance to experience the beauty of nature first hand.

Kinugawa is one of Japan's foremost hot-spring resort towns and is located close to Nikko. Kinugawa's hot springs became popular during the 17th century for their therapeutic qualities, and today it is a leisure spot renowned for its theme parks and other facilities.

This mausoleum was constructed in 1617 for Tokugawa Ieyasu, the first shogun of the Edo Shogunate. The finest Edo-era craftsmanship is featured on the wall carvings in the shrine pavilions, including the Three Monkeys and the Sleeping Cat, the latter of which is a national treasure. The Toshogu Shrine was registered as a World Heritage site in 1999, along with the Rinnoji Temple and the Futarasan Shrine.
